

Small is beautiful-
Ar. Vineeta Kuray designs a compact apartment.

Ar. Vineeta Kuray completed her graduation from Sir J.J.College of Architecture, Mumbai in 1990, soon after which she began practicing as an Architect and Interior Designer. Her work displays the practical angles of having to design to strict requirements, while keeping enough scope each and every time for the creative aspects so inherent to her profession. Her portfolio is comprehensive, with Industrial, Residential, Showrooms, and architectural projects in large as well as small sites.

We feature here, in a small residence, an example of the architect's skill in handling any kind of space.

Residence for Mr. Ahuja at Koregaon Park:

When the client approached Vineeta for the interiors, he wanted an elegant home, not flashy, and it had to reflect a fuss free décor without the frills and floral themes that sometimes find their way into a home.

The bold and masculine character of this apartment is achieved through the dark veneer and the 'space for everything' theme that leaves nothing outside. There is no false ceiling, just a cornice running along. Even the signage for the owner's name bears the touch of the designer. The house has been an exercise in simple and smart décor where a discretion in design elements to be used brings about a modern and understated elegance.

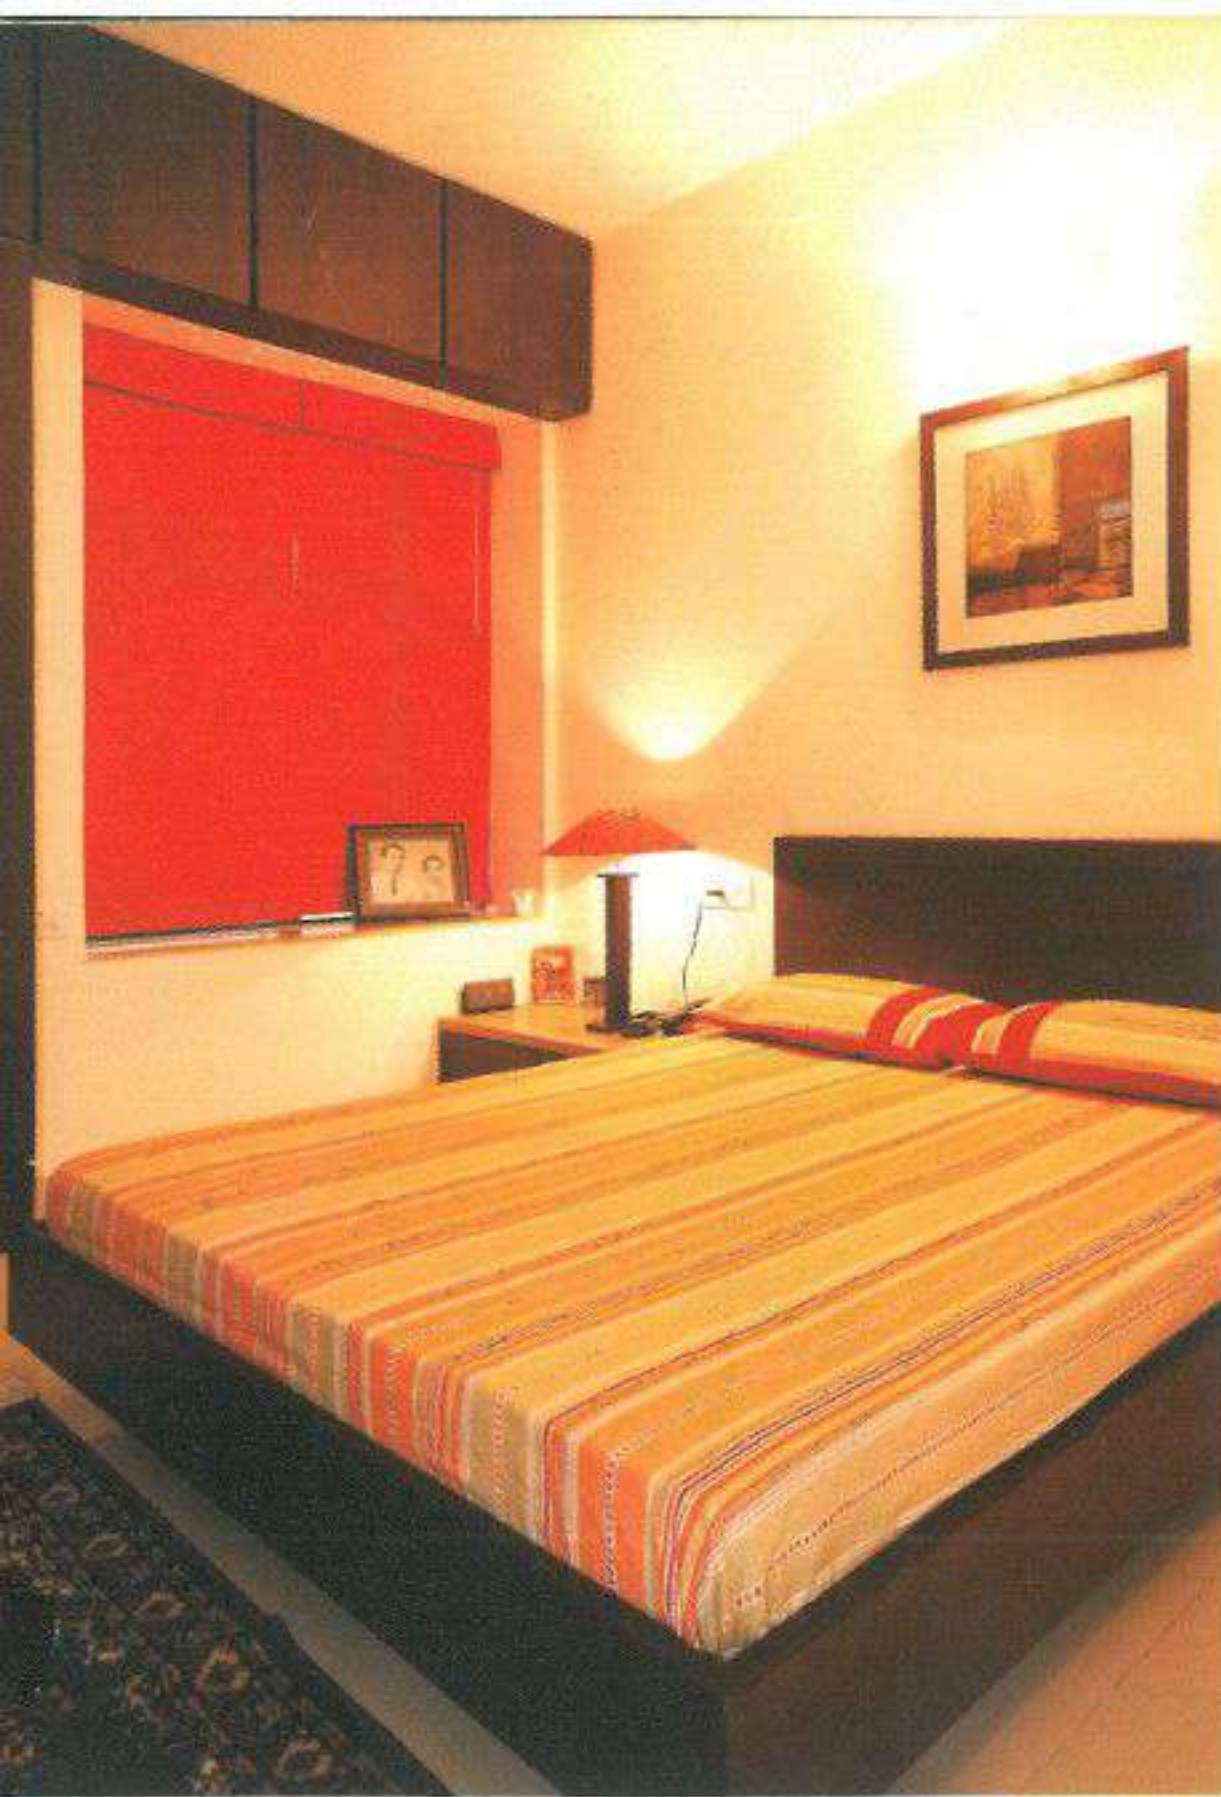

The living room needed low seating, so even the tv unit follows this low visual level.

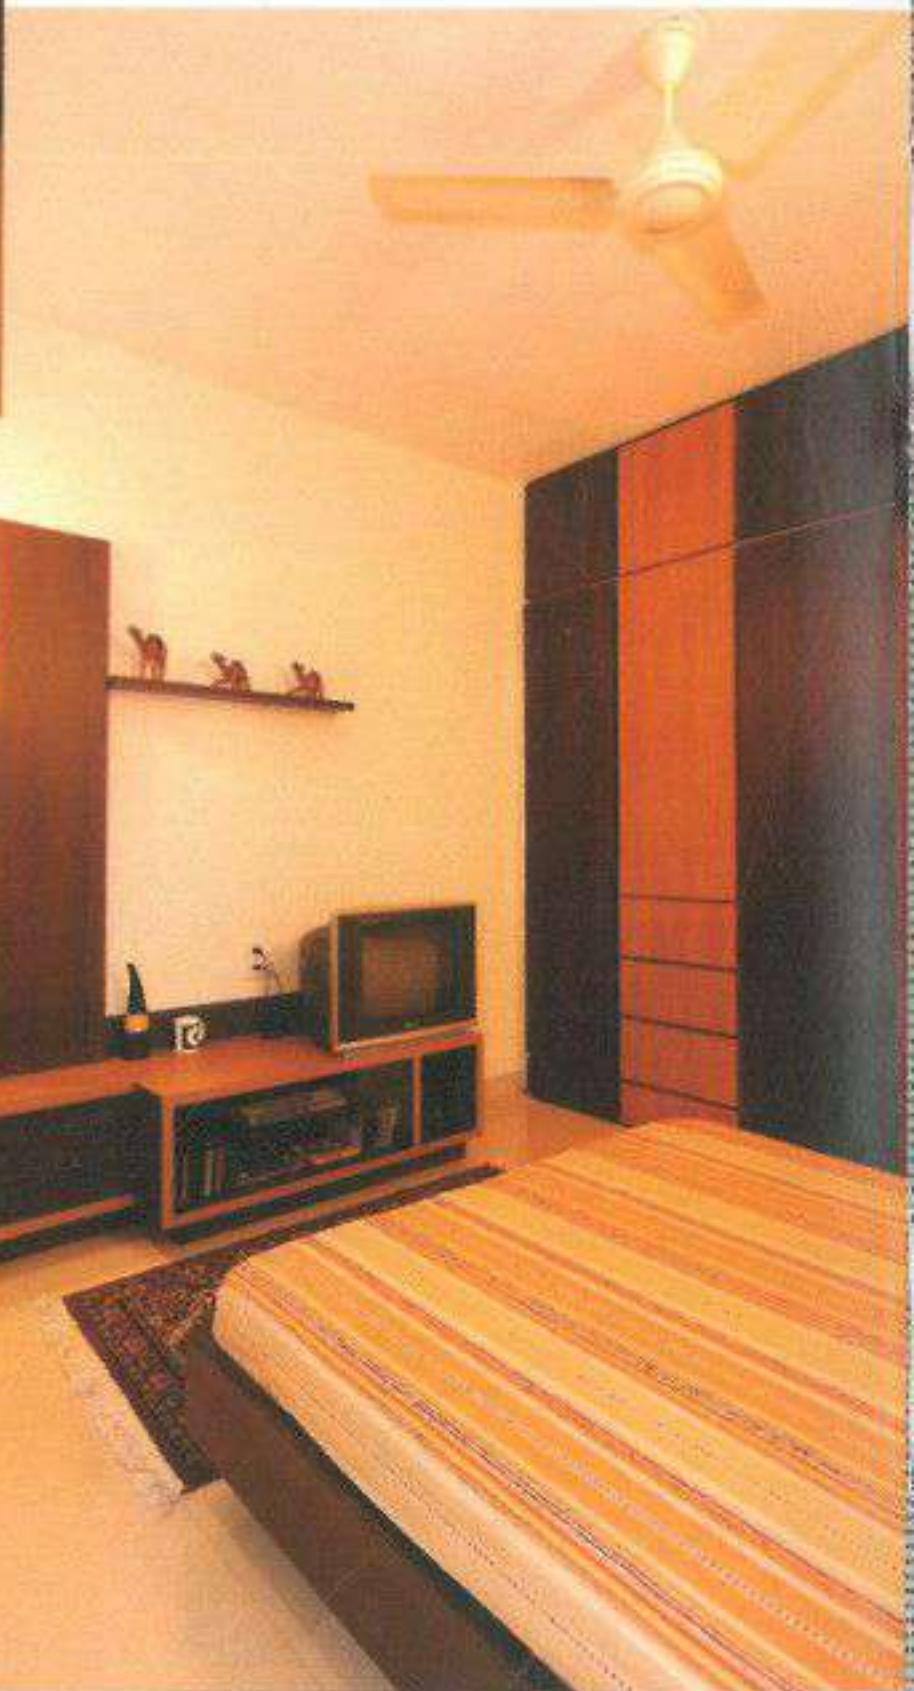

Dining and kitchen - note the very effective use of the partition as a pretty screening panel as well as storage unit.

The bedroom follows a trendy line, with dark veneer, white walls and flame coloured blinds.
